International Conference on Hydraulics, Water Resources, River and Coastal Engineering

INTRODUCTION

The conference intends to provide a platform to water resources professional, academicians and young researchers to discuss and share their ideas. The conference mainly aims at providing a forum for the dissemination of recent contributions from academicians, scientists, researchers, practitioners and consultants in the fields of hydraulics, hydrology, water resources and coastal engineering.

ABOUT INDIAN SOCIETY FOR HYDRAULICS (ISH)

The Indian Society for Hydraulics (ISH) is a technical, educational, non-profiteering national organization, established in 1992 to serve as a common platform for engineers, scientists and technical personnel working in hydraulics and other allied fields. ISH helps technical personnel stay abreast with the latest development in hydraulics by organizing regular meets, seminars gatherings and symposiums. The body also makes it a point to recognize outstanding achievements in the field, by giving away awards to the deserving. The ISH headquarters are located at Central Power and Research Station in Khadakwasla, Pune. The conference is being organized under the aegis of the Indian Society for Hydraulics
